

Learning Loss Plan

High Dosage Tutoring

- Tutoring is most likely to be beneficial when it is offered in high doses via tutoring programs with three or more sessions per week or when it is intensive.
- Tutors can effectively instruct up to three or four students at a time.
- Personal: Retired teachers will be used for high dosage tutoring.
- Tutoring programs that support data use and ongoing informal assessments allow tutors to more effectively tailor their instruction for individual students.
- Using high-quality instructional materials that are aligned with classroom content allows tutors to reinforce and support teachers' classroom instruction.
- Tutoring interventions that are conducted during the school day tend to result in greater learning gains than those that are after-school or during the summer.
- Most research has focused on in-person tutoring, but there is emerging evidence that tutoring can be effective when delivered at a distance.
- Sessions will be 20 minutes long with 1-3 students each.
- Sessions will be every school day.
- Sessions will be offered once extended day program is available.